“Stomping in the Woods” is a well-received CD of new songs for children, composed and performed by musician and music teacher Ruti Lachs.

The CD includes fun action songs such as “EleMouse” and “Stomping in the Woods”; songs about the multitude of vibrant cultures around us, “In My Town”; and songs that parents can relate to, like “Breakfast Fairies” and “Ready To Go”.

The songs were written for, and during, Ruti’s Music Tots classes and workshops for 0 – 7 year olds. Some of the songs were inspired by walks through the beautiful Killarney National Park. Others were created as a way of helping young children to gain music and rhythm skills in a fun way. Parents report that the songs are also enhancing their children’s vocabulary.

Although it is billed as a CD of songs for 0 – 7 year olds, this is a musical treat that all the family will enjoy, over and over again.

The songs are accompanied by a large variety of musical instruments. Children can listen out for accordion, saxophone, clarinet, harmonica, piano, trombone, mandolin and many more.

The CD was recorded in Killarney at Tony O’Flaherty’s Sonas recording studio. Tony also plays some of the instruments, and extra vocals are provided by Siobhán Heapes. Original artwork on the CD is by Kerry artist Helen Richmond.
